WHEREAS, they came to St. Croix for their honeymoon and fell in love with the island;

WHEREAS, David stayed in St. Croix and got a teaching job, and Sonya returned to California to pack, to sell the house, and to return to St. Croix with the children;

WHEREAS, while David taught, Sonya opened a small shop to help make ends meet;

WHEREAS, David Hough's paintings line the shop, as well as their entire home;

WHEREAS, she coined herself a craftsperson and the children helped her to make pictures, postcards, bowls, belts, and plant hangers, and she said some days, they only sold three postcards;

WHEREAS, Sonya had no formal training in the craft and said it was mostly trial and error;

WHEREAS, a trial judge, who is proficient in the craft and the daughter of a watchmaker, helped Sonya develop her craft;

WHEREAS, she made jewelry just by looking at the customer's drawing and did so upon request;

WHEREAS, David was not only a talented at painter, he also designed the Hurricane Hugo Bracelet; it is a creatively shaped "H" bracelet to commemorate one of the worst hurricanes to hit St. Croix and he also designed the Sugar Mill jewelry; that is painstakingly created brick by brick;

WHEREAS, Diana Hough, David and Sonya's daughter, designed the Hurricane Wrong Way Lenny Bracelet and Hurricane Isabel Bracelet, along with many other designs, carrying on the family tradition;

WHEREAS, in 1964, she created the St. Croix Hook Bracelet, which idea was derived from the unisex and the elephant hair designed jewelry of that time;

WHEREAS, in 1965, Sonya opened The Corner Shop, which is now called Sonya Ltd., and is located across from the Steeple Building, 2101 Company Street, Christiansted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands;

WHEREAS, the St. Croix Hook Bracelet has become one of the most sought-after pieces of jewelry in the Virgin Islands;

WHEREAS, her creation, the St. Croix Hook Bracelet, has topped customers lists as the memento from their vacation on St. Croix and is an extremely popular gift for all occasions;

WHEREAS, each bracelet is hand-wrought and no two are exactly alike;

WHEREAS, the Hook Bracelet is so popular and distinguished, being worn downward if one is single and upward if one is taken;

WHEREAS, it has become folklore, with people telling stories of how they spot the bracelets all over the world and can tell if a person is from St. Croix or has visited the island;

WHEREAS, Sonya Hough has demonstrated exemplary creativity and dedication through the creation of the St. Croix Hook Bracelet, a symbol that has come to represent the cultural and artistic spirit of the Virgin Islands;

WHEREAS, the St. Croix Hook Bracelet has significantly contributed to the promotion of the Virgin Islands, particularly St. Croix, enhancing its visibility and appeal in the global tourism market;

WHEREAS, the design of the St. Croix Hook Bracelet is not only a testament to the rich cultural heritage of the Virgin Islands, but also a celebration of the unique identity and craftsmanship that define the Territory;

WHEREAS, Sonya Hough's work fostered pride among the residents of the Virgin Islands and drew attention from visitors, thereby supporting local businesses and the tourism industry;

WHEREAS, through her efforts, Sonya Hough exemplified the entrepreneurial spirit and commitment to cultural preservation that are integral to the continued growth and development of the Virgin Islands;

WHEREAS, with the success of the Hook Bracelet, the family created a vast number of differently designed bracelets, each having its own unique clasp;

WHEREAS, then and until her death, her business philosophy was the "customers are our gold" and Sonya Ltd. has survived and thrived by treating each customer as an individual and that philosophy has kept customers loyal, with most of her advertising being by word of mouth;

WHEREAS, after over 55 years in the business, Sonya has retired and passed away on March 6, 2025, but the legend and the store live on; Now, Therefore,

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the Virgin Islands:
